

The Peoria Transcript calls Springfield "Old Stick-in-the-Mud."

"Twas over thus." The appointment of Indian Commissioner is about to go to an Ohio man.

The Washington Post is mean enough and Democratic enough to say a campaign with Mr. Sherman for a candidate would be rich in many elements of humor. To hear a crowd trying to give three cheers for Sherman, while their teeth were chattering from the inevitable chill of his icy presence, would be better than a circus.

The Springfield Iron Company on yesterday began the manufacture of steel rails, by what is known as the "open hearth process." Only one furnace is used at present, but in the course of a month or two another one will be completed, and the capacity will then be from 180 to 200 ingots every twenty-four hours.

The Springfield Register is working hard to make itself popular with the Democratic masses of the state, and it will doubtless succeed. Its new editor has as choice a vocabulary of slang and filth as was ever possessed by the most successful Democratic editor in the land. And he slings it into his columns, too, with a degree of liberality which cannot fail to commend him to the good graces of that large element which enjoys abuse of Republicans even more than it does its regular potatoes of the Democratic beverage.

Some of the stalwart organ have been trying to create the impression that Phocion Howard is a democratic candidate for congress in this district. The democracy will likely tell Phocion and his republicans supporters when he is wanted.

But Phocion will have the first say in the matter this time, as he has had ever since he assumed control of the democratic party in this district, and when he informs the minor lights—the ordinary editors and sidewalk statesmen—that he wants the nomination, they will yield obedience to his authority and come down, just as they did in 1878, when Phocion dictated the nomination of Malden Jones.

AFTER making the $100,000 donation to the Irish tenants to help them pay the rack-rents to British landlords, the New York Herald offers to receive and forward any other donations for the same purpose. It says:

"We shall feel a particular pleasure in recording small subscriptions from those who can afford to give but little. Every twenty thousand five-dollar subscriptions, every one hundred thousand one-dollar subscriptions, and every four hundred thousand twenty-five-cent subscriptions will equal our own, and will be more something to the sufferers as expressing a larger amount of active sympathy, the interest and kindness of the givers enhancing the value of the gift, and those giving out of their poverty affording the truest evidence that their hearts are touched. It will give us peculiar satisfaction to find small subscriptions pouring forward in a steady and abundant stream."

From a gentleman who is in position to know whereof he speaks, and who has the confidence of Wilbur F. Storey, proprietor of the Chicago Times, we are assured that that paper will support General Grant for the presidency if he is nominated at Chicago, against any democrat who may be put up against him. This does not come from a Grant man nor any one working in the interest of the Grant boom, but it can be set down as a fact and an accession to the boom, as it will offset a half dozen independent papers we could name which have been boasting of their intention to go "agin Grant."—Indianapolis Journal.

A correspondent of the New York Times has been hunting up the record of the winter of 1780, a century ago, and finds it to have been extremely cold. As proof of this several facts are given. The Chesapeake Bay was frozen hard enough for carriages at Annapolis, where it is five and one-quarter miles wide, to pass over. New York harbor was frozen over, the ice being six and eight inches thick. A vast quantity of snow fell, and a strong northeast wind blew it incessantly for three or four days thicker than a snow-storm, and drifted so hard that sleds, loaded, came over the tops of fences. The sound was entirely frozen over for weeks. Sleds drawn by horses and cattle, heavily loaded, crossed and recrossed from Connecticut to Long Island. The snow was so deep that it covered the fences, and froze so hard that horses and sleds passed over with safety. An English frigate lost no less than six men off Sandy Hook, who were frozen to death in attempting to adjust the rigging when about to enter the harbor of New York.

Our Increasing Longevity.

New York Times.

We have more than once called attention to the fact, for it is undeniably a fact, that the people of this republic are steadily increasing in duration of life. Almost any one can see this from observation, if he lives in a large city, or from reading the death notices in the newspapers. In yesterday morning's journals, for instance, the deaths of not less than 10 persons are recorded as over 75 years of age, one of them 79, and two 86. Nor is this in any way unusual. Almost any daily death record here will show a preponderance of old people—meaning those of 65 or more. Sixty was considered old even thirty years ago; but now, when a man of 60 dies, the comment often made is, "he ought to have lived longer; young man yet." Indeed, persons of sound constitution, quick mind, active temperament, are, in a sense, young at 60, for they are in perfect possession of all their faculties, capable of any ordinary amount of work, and still have a considerable future. Many of the most responsible places in firms and corporations in this city are held by men of 70 or thereabouts, and they evince no disposition to retire. New York is noted for vigorous old men. In no city on the continent, and in hardly any city in Europe, can so many hale, active men of 65 and upward be found. Walking in Broadway, Wall or Broad street, or Fifth avenue, or any of the principal thoroughfares, one can hardly fail to be struck by the gray or white hairs and wrinkled faces, coupled with erect, elastic forms and suppleness and rapidity of movement. There appear to be numberless ancient heads on comparatively young shoulders. The opinion long prevailed that rural regions and rural pursuits favored longevity; but if it were so once, which is very dubious, it is not so now. Great centers supply ease, comforts, material facilities and save an endless amount of friction, while the country, its monotony, lack of interest, fatiguing round of small concerns and very hard work wear on the strongest system. Men in cities generally live not only much more, but much longer.

The Real Question.

Albany Evening Journal.

The presidential struggle will be less an issue of principle than a question of party character and public safety. In other words, the uprising against the democratic party will not be so much because it represents wrong principles and policy as because it embodies a false, revolutionary and destructive spirit.

The democratic party is, indeed, utterly wrong on every essential question of public policy—wrong on the currency, wrong on equal rights, wrong on State sovereignty and national supremacy, and wrong on free and honest elections. It resisted and obstructed re-election to the end. It is the pillar and strength of every financial heresy and danger to day. It encourages and sustains the ku-klux and rifle-club measures of the south. It denies the right and power of the republic to protect its own life, and exalts the states above the nation in some of the very elements of nationality. It seeks to break down all the bulwarks which surround and shield the ballot-box, and so leave it unguarded. On all these questions the democratic party holds a position directly at war with the public welfare, and the false principles thus avowed would be enough to condemn it.

But all this, bad as it is, does not constitute the chief ground of distrust. The fatal defect of the democratic party is not merely that it is false in judgment and policy, but false in inherent character and impulse; that it has been demoralized by its successive championing of slavery and rebellion; that thus it has lost the sense of patriotic duty and public responsibility; and that it has shown itself capable of trampling on law and precipitating anarchy itself for the sake of clutching at power. There are hosts of individual democrats who do not share this spirit. But the party as an organization under its present leadership embodies this character and has illustrated it in the extra session, in Maine and in a whole chapter of kindred acts. No matter what its principles or professions, such a party cannot be trusted for a moment.

The Peoria Democrat expresses the opinion that it will not answer for the Democrats to nominate a military man in opposition to Gen. Grant, for it says "the brilliancy of Grant's military record is unquestioned." The very best thing the Democrats can do if Grant is nominated is to just let the election go by default. The Democrats haven't got a man in their ranks, who either as a military man or civilian can come anywhere near beating Grant, and why not just make the thing unanimous? Such a course would wipe out old party lines, clean up the political debris of the past, and leave the people free during the next four years to reorganize political parties upon other and better issues. The Democratic party stands as a perpetual menace. The people distrust and fear it. Let it show that it has a spark of patriotism left, by burying its self out of sight.—Bloomington Leader.

LAWYERS in Leadville are as rascally as they are in the states. A man named Charles Jones died there, leaving a mine worth $1,000,000. He made no will. A lawyer took advantage of a small mortgage, and got possession of the mine. The miners discovered the scheme, and hunted up a poverty-stricken family in Vermont who were the rightful heirs. They invited the lawyer to vacate, and he did so.

Correspondence of the REPUBLICAN.

THE GERMAN VOTE.

I notice that the Chicago Tribune says that the Germans are all against Grant and in favor of Sherman. That is news to me; look over all the German papers that are printed and you will find they favor either Grant or Blaine. I don't know since when the Chicago Tribune has become the organ of the Germans. Some Germans think it is General Sherman who is running for president instead of Secretary of the Treasury Sherman. Three cheers for Grant! A GERMAN.

Compliment to the Weather Bureau

Wash. Dispatch N. Y. Tribune.

The German Government recently paid the highest compliment to the United States by addressing, through the German minister at Washington, a letter requesting to be exactly informed as to the process by which the Signal Service Bureau so promptly collects all the war department meteorological reports from all parts of the United States—an extent of territory greater than Europe—and so rapidly drafts and publishes them upon the printed daily weather map. These maps are issued three hours after the records are read at the distant stations. When it is remembered that the request comes from a government noted for its skilled cartographers, and a sailing first in Europe, the value of the compliment will be appreciated. It is understood that the German Government proposes an advance in meteorological work. The information sought has been minutely prepared by the chief signal officer, Gen. Myer, with the approval of the secretary of war.

Quite Possible.

New York Tribune: Senator West, of Louisiana, says the Louisiana delegation to the republican national convention will probably go there in favor of Sherman, but if they find when they get there that Grant or any other candidate is likely to get the nomination they will desert Sherman in a body, and without warning vote for the winning man. A similar remark could doubtless be made with equal truth of nearly all the southern delegates. As the north will have to elect the candidate, the southern republicans will have no preference save that man whom the north considers the strongest.

SOME of the Chinamen in San Francisco are very adroit thieves. When they wish to steal chickens, a dozen or more of them, in the dead of night, visit the locality where fowls are supposed to be kept and distribute themselves about at convenient distances. They then commence imitating the crowing of a cock, which they do so really that all the roosters in the neighborhood send out shrill defiance. This betrays the exact whereabouts of the roosts, and the unfortunate fowls must roost high or they are gobbled and taken to Chinatown for the next day's dinner.

Whispers from Whitmore.

ENDS. REPUBLICAN:—These sunshiny days are having a very happy effect, and are very acceptable to us just now, and the improved condition of the roads is a matter in which we greatly rejoice. The mud was on a strike, and bid fair to keep it up, but a few blasts from toward the polar regions caused the gulf current to recede and it has given up the strife and settled down on its own grounds. And now the people, who could not get their corn gathered and taken to market, too, before the highways became impassable for a loaded wagon, are now improving the time in hauling it away; we mean those who want to sell now.

It looks sometimes as if the notions of people change as often as the wind. Sometime ago almost everybody wanted corn—now it appears that those who have no pigs would like to have some. Our advice is to stick to your trade; no matter whether it is voted up or down, there will be times when it will be up.

The Pleasant Grove Lyceum is in a healthy running condition. It meets regularly every Saturday evening. The subject for discussion at the last meeting was: "Resolved, That card playing is injurious to a community," and was very interestingly discussed to a full house by several able aspirants. The evils and injuries of the game were very forcibly shown up on the one side, while its enjoyments and amusements were zealously portrayed on the other. The decision was rendered in the affirmative by two competent judges, Wm. Boyer, Esq., of Whitmore, and John A. Draper, Esq., of Mt. Zion township. The discussion passed off pleasantly, good humoredly and agreeably to all, and those present seemed to enjoy themselves hugely. TALLY.

It is said that the paper makers have offered to furnish the leading papers throughout the country with paper at fifty per cent. below the price they are charging the provincial press throughout the country. TELEGRAPHIC WASHINGTON NEWS.

Sherman and Conkling.

A HOOSIER ENOCH ARDEN.

Grant and his Purposes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—The publication of what purported to be a private letter from C. W. Moulton to Secretary Sherman, regarding Senator Conkling's position toward Mr. Sherman, in the event of Grant's withdrawal, has been the subject of no little comment among the Grant and Blaine supporters in congress. Secretary Sherman's statement that he has no doubt that this letter correctly represents the true condition of the relations of Mr. Conkling toward his candidacy has only intensified the feeling in political circles. Your correspondent was assured to day by a United States Senator, a personal friend of Senator Conkling, and who is fully informed as to the latter's views, that the Moulton letter grossly misrepresents the New York Senator, and is utterly devoid of truth. Mr. Conkling expects General Grant to be the nominee of the Chicago convention, but in the event of that not being the case, he will not transfer his influence to Mr. Sherman as alleged. As between Sherman and Blaine, he decidedly prefers the latter, and his friends will be advised to throw their strength for Blaine. This senator says, further, that Governor Cornell and General Arthur, of New York, are warmly for Blaine, after Grant, and that Blaine will undoubtedly carry the New York delegation if Grant is withdrawn.

A large number of bills were introduced in the house to-day.

Representative Belford, of Colorado, has drawn up a resolution which he will offer, if a chance is offered, directing an investigation into the alleged use of the patronage of the treasury department for political purposes by Secretary Sherman.

Senator Logan presented in the senate to-day a minority report in the Fitz John Porter case, signed by himself and Senator Plumb, maintaining the justice of the sentence found against that officer. Senator Burdick, another member of the committee, has prepared another minority report, which he will present to-morrow. He concurs in the legal opinions expressed by Senators Logan and Plumb, but thinks that the new evidence brought forward by Porter is strong enough to justify a new trial of that officer. He does not think the evidence before the Schofield commission proves clearly that the sentence was either unjust or wrong. There is ground enough to justify a new trial. He is opposed to the bill agreed upon by the majority of the senate military committee to restore Porter to the service again.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Representative Hammond to-day introduced a bill for the relief of the state of Georgia. It directs the secretary of the treasury to pay to the state of Georgia the proceeds of all cotton taken from her possession by the agents of the United States which may be ascertained to be in the treasury of the United States.

The house committee on war claims decided to-day to report adversely on the claim of Burbridge & Co., amounting to $40,000, for sugar, molasses and rum sequestered by Gen. B. F. Butler at New Orleans.

The senate exodus committee examined two colored witnesses to-day, their testimony being mainly corroborative of that previously given by other colored witnesses.

Gen. Sherman sends a card to the associated press to correct the impression that Gen. Boynton has begun a suit against him for libel, and says Boynton has taken no steps except for publication in the newspapers. Major Reno has telegraphed the president for permission to resign, and the president is considering the request. Meanwhile the war department delays approval of the sentence of the court-martial dismissing him.

LIGONIER, Ind., Feb. 8.—John K. White, a carpenter and farmer, left this locality for the far west ten or eleven years ago. He promised his family to send for them as soon as he could find a suitable location. Some time after he wrote them to pack their goods and hold themselves in readiness to start for their western home on a moment's notice. His wish was complied with, and the goods stored in the railroad warehouse at this place; but the order and means to proceed were not forthcoming. He wrote once or twice, but for the last nine years no tidings had been received from him. No word coming from him, it was generally believed he had died. His wife supported herself, an aged mother, and her children by washing and other arduous labor. About four months ago, having long before given up all hopes of ever again seeing White, she accepted an offer to become the wife of a widowed farmer named Cook, who resides near here, and has lived happily with him ever since. Last night the long disappeared John K. White made his appearance in this place, and as a matter of course, at once made inquiry after his family. He became greatly agitated when informed that his wife was no longer Mrs. White but Mrs. Cook. This morning he insisted upon going to the residence of his wife, but some of our citizens, realizing the peculiarity and intricacy of the situation, persuaded him to defer the desired interview until a more propitious period. What the final outcome of this modern Enoch Arden may be the future must develop.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Times will to-morrow print the following: "A near personal and political friend of ex-president Grant, who doubtless knows whereof he speaks, authorizes the following as a correct statement of the General's position with reference to the presidency: Gen. Grant is not now, nor has he ever been, a candidate for presidential nomination; but should the republican national convention nominate him in the same manner as any other candidate would be nominated, he would deem it his duty to the country and to the party to accept. Traveling abroad, he is a stranger to the contest now going on for the presidential nomination, and has written no letters on the subject to any person, and all assertions to the contrary are without foundation in fact."

25 Years Before the Public. THE GENUINE Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. It was such a scene as I am powerless to describe. Each boy sat at the fire in front of his own particular stick of meat, on which were little knobs of meat; but beside each was a pile of long strips about an inch thick, and some of them a yard in length. While his knobs were slowly roasting the boy would take one of these long strips, containing at least half a pound of meat, and holding one end in the flame would let it get toasted for a few seconds; then he would place that end in his mouth, and begin to chew it, placing the still uncooked end in the flame, and at the same time watching that the knobs on his stick did not get burned. For three hours or more not a boy moved from the fire, except to cut up a fresh supply of meat or to have a drink of water. All this time they hardly spoke a word, so intent were they in gorging themselves; but as the night advanced they broke into a low monotonous sort of humming chant, during which, one after the other, they recounted some adventure of the day, or expressed their delight at so much good food, the others all the while keeping up an accompanying chorus of the humming chant. Occasionally they would raise their voices to a yell, and then sink them so low as to be almost inaudible. Woodward and myself turned into our blankets, and were soon lulled asleep by the monotonous but not unpleasant singing. All through the night the boys alternately ate and sang, and several times when I awoke I saw them still hard at work chewing down the yards of meat.

"THE GREAT BOOM." Eighteen hundred and seventy-nine will long be remembered as the time when kindred of business and financial prosperity seemed to sweep into new life. Merchants are finding plenty of ready customers for their wares, mechanics meet with ready employment at fair wages, and the farmers are receiving advanced prices for their products, and it is acknowledged by all that in no part of our country are the evidences of prosperity and comfort so marked as along the entire line of the "Old Reliable" Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad. And to attain these results the management of the Hannibal & Quincy Railroad have given their earnest thought and attention, and the rapid growth of business, and increasing wealth of the community along its route are evidences that their efforts are fully appreciated. We are, as usual, running in connection with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad through Day Coaches, Reclining Chairs (free), and Pullman Sleeping Cars from Chicago via Quincy to Missouri river points. Also through Day Coaches from Toledo and Indianapolis, with Pullman Sleeping Cars from Toledo via Quincy, Springfield and Quincy, to Kansas City, Atchison and St. Joseph without change. Families traveling with children will find it greatly to their advantage to take the "Old Reliable" H. & St. J. R. as no changes or transfers are made.
